Mike Wheatley, his eight-month-old daughter Lacey and four-year-old son Ty enjoy a sunny and warm Father's Day picnic at Prince's Island Park yesterday.

Celebrating Dad

Hundreds spend some family time at Father's Day picnic

By NEIL MACKINNON
Metro Calgary

Grandfathers in knee-high socks and fishing hats strolled around with children in tow, young fathers chatted while providing obligatory swing under-ducks, and Randy Schuba spread out a big black blanket.

Mother's Day gets much more attention and accolades, largely because mothers "do most of the work," said Schuba, who was celebrating his first Father's Day Sunday at Prince's Island Park with a couple new shirts and a card that are dwarfed in comparison to some quality picnic time with his young family.

"There's no more quick get-aways to the mountains, though," Schuba said as his 11-month-old son Joshua cooed and gnawed at the string of his purple helium balloon. "Being a father really changes your priorities, your perspective, absolutely, it's quite the change."

"It's the little things, literally the little things," added his wife, Maria, who suggested their inner-city oasis picnic day in the sun, as young Joshua giggled and reached for a book, the string still getting worked over by teething gums.

> « I can't think of much I'd rather be doing right now. »
> New father Randy Schuba

Hundreds turned out for yesterday's picnic where ball gloves snapped intermittently, soccer balls bounced from foot-to-foot while others sat on the banks of the Bow River feeding ducks.

"I can't think of much I'd rather be doing right now," Schuba said.

Autopsy set in standoff death

The Calgary Medical Examiner is conducting an autopsy on a man found dead in a Canmore lodge near the Banff National Park gates Saturday.

The RCMP gained entry to the room after the man had barricaded himself inside and uttered threats — forcing the evacuation of the other residents in the hotel.

Discussions for a peaceful exit were ongoing with the man until 3:30 p.m., when contact was lost.

Highway 1 near the lodge was closed for a time during the ordeal — all evacuated people were allowed back in.

The name of the deceased is not being released at this time.

An Open Letter From Donald Trump To All Calgary Area Residents Who Want To Get Rich In Real Estate & Business!

Trump Tells All!

"I've Made Billions And Now I want To Share My Success Secrets With You!"

– Donald Trump,
Executive Producer, The Apprentice, NBC • Chairman, Trump Institute

Dear Calgary Area Resident,

Have you seen my TV show, The Apprentice? It's been one of the top rated shows on NBC for eight consecutive seasons!

Not only that, it has made me a media phenomenon and forever changed my life.

And now, at the age of 60, I've decided to make a bold move to share my knowledge and experience in such a way that it could be a great advantage to you.

What Kind Of Advantage?

The best kind of advantage; the kind of advantage that could make you money and make you rich.

If you are seriously interested in hearing what I have to say about being successful, about making money and about getting rich, please read every word of this letter carefully. It contains an invitation for you to discover what has taken me the better part of my life to learn and put into action.

Please let me explain.

Before The Apprentice, I was famous for building the world's largest and most beautiful buildings, golf courses and casinos, and for being a marketing whiz when it comes to succeeding in business. Everywhere I went people treated me like royalty and I was generally considered a big shot.

Everything Has Changed!

Because of The Apprentice, everything has changed. I have truly become a household word, globally. Everywhere I go people say something to me. Sometimes they say, "Trump, you're fired!" Or, "You're hired!" But always, they greet me with respect, humor and friendship. It's like they know me personally.

I love that!

With this monumental fame there comes a great responsibility (and an enormous opportunity) to make a huge contribution to the North American economy.

Something Extraordinary For You!

Since the amazing success of The Apprentice, I have been wondering what to do with this new power of worldwide fame. Recently I got the idea to do something truly extraordinary and totally outside of the box.

What I've decided is that I want to train and educate the next generation of real estate moguls and business entrepreneurs. Why?

There are two very good reasons:

Reason #1:

America's been very good to me and my family and this is a great way I can give back to the country and help stimulate real economic growth.

Reason #2:

I believe that what I have to share will create so much success for my students, that I will leave a legacy as being the father of modern real estate acquisition and entrepreneurial success.

You see, one thing you should know about me is that more than anything, I want to be known as a great businessman, maybe even the greatest!

That's why I have created Trump Institute.

Want To Know How I Do It?

Would you like to know how I buy and sell real estate? How I pick properties for huge profits and high yield equity gains?

Would you like to know what I look for when buying a business or starting a new business? If so, I'm inviting you to come to a special seminar introducing Trump Institute. At this seminar you'll see first hand the type of education I am offering.

Who Should Attend?

If you're asking yourself, "could this be the moment that changes everything for me?" All I can say is, you'll never know unless you try.

Your Success Depends On You!

Ultimately, your success depends on you, and with my help, you can get an education and an advantage that has not only proven to work for me, but it has also worked for many of the world's richest men and women.

You see, in my quest to be the best, I have sought the advice and guidance from people who have also experienced mega-billionaire success. I have incorporated their techniques and experiences into my own personal treasure chest of successful business and real estate knowledge, strategies, and wisdom.

A Powerful Team of Experts!

I also have an incredible team of business entrepreneurs and real estate mavens (very talented experts), who deliver my material and my lessons.

These are men and women who are highly successful professionals in business and real estate. They speak from my lips to your ears and they back it up with experience, knowledge and wisdom. I wouldn't put my name on it any other way.

Money-Making Skills

Through this seminar you'll learn practical money-making advice about how to be successful in business and how I invest in real estate.

Here's just a sample of what you'll learn:

- You are going to learn the Trump Way to get cash back when you BUY a property.
- Learn the Trump Way to get other people to jump-start your business.
- The Trump Way to find great deals in the hidden markets others don't know about.

Not 'just any old smokestack'

By NEIL MACKINNON
Metro Calgary

The smoke may be long gone, but its historical fire lingers.

Eau Claire's 25-metre red brick smoke stack, which "harkens back to the community's beginnings" will take another step towards being formally canonized as a municipal historic resource by the city's land use, planning and transportation committee Wednesday, said Ald. Druh Farrell, adding it's more of a formality than anything else now after the city guaranteed its protection when it sold the land.

"This isn't just any old smoke stack," Farrell said. "It's a piece of our history and we don't have many smoke stacks in Calgary anymore, this might be it and it's certainly worth saving."

The mixed-use development, which will take over Eau Claire Market where the smoke stack still presides, is planned to use the southwest corner stack as a focal point to "help tell the story of our origins," Farrell said.

ROBIN KUNSKI/FOR METRO CALGARY
The city is eyeing the possibility of designating the Eau Claire smokestack as a historic resource.

The smoke stack was once part of the heating system for a bus barn, an element of the city's thriving industrial sector.

Class action filed against chiropractors

Paralyzed woman's suit for more than half a billion dollars

By ERIC BOWLING
for Metro Calgary

An Alberta woman who claims her chiropractor paralyzed her for life filed a class action suit for more than half a billion dollars.

In what is being called a landmark case, Sandra Nette alleges that a controversial "neck adjustment" performed by chiropractor Dr. Greg Stilles ruptured two arteries in her neck and caused a cascade of strokes that left her paralyzed and unable to speak. She is only able to move her right arm and one eye.

None of the allegations in the suit have been proven in a court of law.

The lawsuit is being filed against Stilles, the Alberta College of Chiropractors and the Ministry of Health on grounds that it failed to properly regulate the industry. It is asking for over $500 million in damages.

One of Nette's lawyers, Philip Tinkler, explained that the class action suit has been set up for similar victims of malpractice who may not be able to pursue legal action of their own.

"Albertans have a right to expect that the healthcare they pay for and receive is safe and effective," explained Tinkler.

"This claim alleges that people are not being properly informed of their health conditions or of the benefits and risks of the manipulations chiropractors propose to do."

Vaccine protects daughters: Moms

HPV While it has been called a controversial vaccination, some Calgary mothers are opting to voluntarily protect their daughters from the human papillomavirus (HPV).

The Alberta government announced Thursday the HPV vaccine will be offered to female students in Grades 5 through 9 — and at least two local mothers are all for it.

"I just think it's a really good idea and it is something I would want my granddaughter to have, so she doesn't have to worry about it," mother of four Kathie Aldridge said. "It's about protecting their overall health."

And Kathleen Anderson, mother of a 14-year-old daughter, told Metro she didn't think it was an open invitation for girls to have sex.

About 1,300 Canadian women contract the sexually transmitted virus a year and 400 women die of cervical cancer per year.

Landlords choosing by gender?

'Guy's guy' found it tough to land an apartment

By NEIL MACKINNON
Metro Calgary

More places are opening up in Calgary's rental market and landlords may be reconsidering possible gender biases to fill the space.

When George Williams, 28, "a guy's guy" moved west with a buddy from Ontario in August 2006, in the midst of some of Calgary's tightest vacancy times, finding a place was "nearly impossible."

"We were just simply inquiring about places, we called 50 or 60 and never got one call back," said Williams, who spent his first two and a half months in Calgary couch surfing with friends and acquaintances. He figures the landlords were worried they were a "typical bunch of young guys," who didn't clean up after themselves and had "wild parties and loud music at all hours."

Until Williams hooked up with a girl from eastern Ontario who was also in the rental market, he thought his trips from one living room to the next were to be his norm.

"It does seem awfully ironic that as soon as I meet this girl, she calls five places and every one of them gets back to her right away while I spent two months looking and couldn't scrape up even a dump," Williams said.

University of Calgary professor Paul Stortz said every landlord's perceptions and preferences for suitable renters are different, "gender roles are very deeply entrenched in Canadian society."

"Women are thought to be less physically threatening, more trustworthy, clean and quiet, and certainly aren't thought to party as much as young men," Stortz said, adding it's a case by case issue and Williams' troubles may indeed have been mere coincidence.

rental vacancy rates

» Last year the rental vacancy rate was 4%, this year the city wide vacancy rate is 1.6%, according to the Calgary Apartment Association. This is compared to 5% to 6% for the past three years.

Centre offers rehab options for canines

By KRISTA SYLVESTER
Metro Calgary

They may have four legs instead of two but this physical rehabilitation program runs canines through the same fitness regime as humans.

Starting in Calgary four years ago, founders Laurie Hedge-Hughes and Amalia Rossi-Campof used their physiotherapy skills and applied it to man's best friend.

"We pretty much do the same physical rehabilitation here as what you would see for humans," Rossi-Campof said.

The only difference, she added, is the underwater treadmill the Canine Fitness Centre used for dogs.

"Some of the dogs are scared if they aren't water dogs, but most of them like it. It's a really good tool using walking and swimming to use all four limbs."

They also have other rehabilitation techniques and protocols for dogs to get better, or even just get in better shape including massage and acupuncture. The centre is located at 509 42 Ave SE.

Transit riders in record numbers

By NEIL MACKINNON
Metro Calgary

Calgary Transit is operating at record passenger levels, according to a report to be tabled for the city Wednesday.

C-Train service is up by nearly 100,000 people per week this spring compared to 2007, while the city's bus lines are experiencing a similar bustle, up about 62,000 passengers a week, with the overall service carrying an all time high of nearly 3.2 million people a week.

LRT service in the northeast leg has improved, the report said, including a dozen reported overloads at Whitehorn Station, while five bus routes throughout the city aren't meeting their minimum target. However, as ridership grows, the number of C-Train passengers per operating hour is down 8.3 per cent, its lowest level in at least five years, Ald. Ric McIver said smacks of inefficiency that he suspects has been caused by tinkering in areas with lower ridership.

Conservatives mixing business, fundraising

Ministers attending party events while on taxpayer-funded trips

fundraising success

» In the first quarter of 2008, the Conservative party has raised $5 million — outstripping both the Liberals and NDP with a dollar ratio of about five to one.

When Defence Minister Peter MacKay flew to British Columbia in January, he split his time between government business and two Tory fundraising gigs. Taxpayers footed the bill.

When then-Indian affairs minister Jim Prentice flew to Nova Scotia to meet with provincial chiefs, he headlined a Conservative fundraising dinner in Prince Edward Island. Taxpayers paid for the trip.

And when Fisheries Minister Loyola Hearn jetted off from a Quebec fisheries forum to attend a government meeting in Manitoba, he guest-starred at a local Tory fundraising banquet.

The federal Conservatives — elected on promises to be squeaky clean — are using government resources to help fill their election war chest.

Torstar News Service easily found 25 examples of Tory ministers mixing fundraising and business by comparing government expense records with Conservative party notices of fundraising events. Each trip typically cost taxpayers several thousand dollars, though complete costs are not disclosed.

Ministers maintain key government business was the reason for each journey. None provided proof of this, but some said the political events were just a happy coincidence. Besides, spokespeople say, this is the way it has always been done and the Liberals did it too.

Democracy Watch co-ordinator Duff Connacher wants the government to clean up its act.

"It's a privilege to travel the on taxpayers' dime, not a right. The (political) party should be paying for part of these trips," said Connacher.

Bush urges Brits to stay in Iraq

Wants closest ally to keep troops until job is done

U.S. President George W. Bush arrived in Britain yesterday for what could be his last official visit as president, urging his close ally not to withdraw forces from Iraq unless conditions on the ground allowed.

troops

» Only about 4,200 British troops remain in Iraq, most of them stationed in the south.

In an interview with a British newspaper ahead of his trip, Bush said while the United States and Britain obviously wanted to bring their troops home from Iraq soon, it should be done "based upon success" and not arbitrary timetables.

Underlining the divisiveness of the Iraq issue for Britons, thousands of protesters demonstrated outside parliament in central London, denouncing Bush and the five-year-old war. Several demonstrators were injured in scuffles with police and the authorities said they had arrested 25 people.

Bush, on the final stop of a European farewell tour, said al Qaeda militants had been defeated in Iraq.

"They've been — we've routed them in Iraq," he said in an interview with Sky News. "That's not to say that they're not still dangerous or want to come back, but they've been routed." REUTERS

Saudis to pump more

Kingdom says prices too high

meeting

» The Saudi output plan comes a week before the kingdom hosts an unprecedented meeting of producers and consumers to tackle market instability.

The world's top oil exporter, Saudi Arabia, will boost output next month to the fastest rate in decades to help keep pace with demand and tame what it sees as unacceptably high fuel prices.

Riyadh plans to lift output to 9.7 million barrels per day (bpd) in July, United Nations chief Ban Ki-moon said yesterday after meeting Saudi Oil Minister Ali al-Naimi.

That would be a rise of 550,000 bpd — over six per cent since May — and would take Saudi crude output to its highest monthly rate since August 1981.

Saudi King Abdullah told Ban that Riyadh would do its utmost to bring the price down.

Oil fell nearly $2 a barrel on Friday after an industry newsletter reported Riyadh was considering a sizeable output increase to near 10 million bpd. REUTERS

G8 shrinks from plans to calm markets

worries

» Most ministers appeared more worried about slowing growth in economies hit by a credit crisis than rising prices.

The world's richest nations warned on Saturday soaring commodity prices may slice into economic growth, but shrank from offering any plan to calm markets or quell protests over the cost of fuel and food.

Currencies were not discussed in a meeting of G8 finance ministers in Osaka, Japan, after a string of tantalising comments about a weak dollar's role in inflation. An Italian push for regulation to snuff out speculation in oil ran into U.S. and British resistance. REUTERS

Microsoft seeks anti-deal support

ENLIST Microsoft Corp sought on Friday to enlist support for its opposition to a new advertising collaboration deal between Google Inc. and Yahoo Inc.

One day after the companies announced an agreement allowing Google to sell search ads on Yahoo's Web site, Microsoft contacted advocacy groups that work to influence policy in Washington, saying the deal would "limit choices for advertisers and publishers." REUTERS

Turkey battles from two goals down to advance

EURO2008

Turkey pulled off an extraordinary comeback to book a place in the Euro 2008 quarter-finals with a 3-2 win over the Czech Republic yesterday after trailing by two goals with 15 minutes to go.

Turkey's reward for victory is a last-eight clash with Group B winners Croatia in Vienna on Friday.

The night also featured the farewell of co-hosts Switzerland to the tournament with a 2-0 win over Portugal, who had already sealed their place as Group A winners. It was the final match of the Swiss coach Koebi Kuhn who is now retiring.

The Czechs had looked destined for the last eight after moving into a 2-0 lead with a Jan Koller header and Jaroslav Plasil's neatly taken second before Arda Turan gave Turkey what appeared to be a slim lifeline in the 75th minute.

Petr Cech inexplicably dropped the ball at the feet of Nihat Kahveci to present the forward with a simple equalizer three minutes from time and two minutes later Nihat blasted home the winner for Turkey.

Turkey keeper Volkan Demirel was then sent off in stoppage time for a shove with the ball out of play but the Czechs did not have time to mount a comeback.

"I'm so sorry," said Czech captain Tomas Ujfalusi. "We should have won this match." REUTERS

Fathers long for quality time

Many fathers fear work is causing them to miss out

By RAFAEL BRUSILOW
for Metro Calgary

Many working dads talk about wanting to spend more time with their families, but how many actually trade in work hours for some quality time?

Findings from a recent Workopolis Dads in the Workplace Poll show that at least one-in-five fathers fear time away from home is making them miss out on some of their families' biggest moments.

On the other hand, 40 per cent of the dads surveyed also report being able to manage all home duties adequately compared to only 5 per cent of moms, suggesting that while many working dads not only forget to be home — they perhaps forget to help out at home too.

"I think perhaps fathers do delude themselves into thinking there isn't as much to do at home, and I suspect it's an issue that sweeps across income areas," said Patrick Sullivan, president of the popular online job portal Workopolis that released the study. Sullivan suggests working dads sometimes forget how important time with the family is and neglect to make room for it.

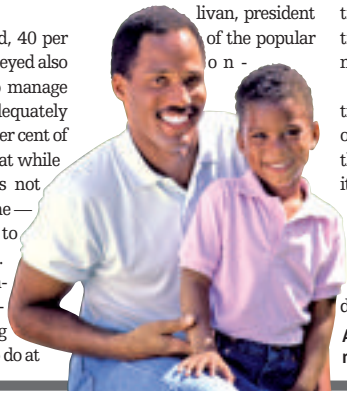
"We all tend to spend more time working than we do with our families. You need to take that time for your family — it's important," he said.

Sullivan, 49 and himself a father of two, says past time he spent away from his family wasn't always worth it — despite how successful he has been.

"I really wasn't at home much for my children for a couple of years. I certainly look back now and regret that," Sullivan said.

Family time, just like business meetings and project deadlines, needs to be scheduled. Plan ahead for important events like recitals and give yourself reminders.

"Set alarms, don't turn on the TV right when you get home and be at the dinner table," Sullivan said.



A new study indicates that many working dads feel they're missing out on their kids' childhood due to work.

YWCA honours Deepa Mehta

By RAFAEL BRUSILOW
for Metro Calgary

Courage, dedication and the drive to make the lives of women around the world better — all are qualities possessed and demonstrated by filmmaker Deepa Mehta and seven other Canadian Women of Distinction.

The world-renowned filmmaker, famous for her soul-wrenching films documenting oppression of women and political turmoil in her native land of India, was the recipient of the recent President's Award at the 28th annual YWCA Women of Distinction Awards in Toronto.

Draped in an elegant, traditional gown that billowed playfully in the artificial breeze, Mehta called the award "a great honour" and praised the city that has become her adopted home for the past 30 years.

Mehta

"I've spent half my life in Toronto — I feel that it is my city," Mehta said.

Mehta said what drives her is to help women understand they don't have to be powerless in their own lives.

"What's important for me is for women to realize they have a voice — for all women to realize they have validity," Mehta said.

The YWCA is Canada's oldest women's organization, providing services and programs to improve the status of women in Canada.

A night to remember

Hedley wins big at MuchMusic Video Awards

By BRIAN COULTON
for Metro Calgary

Thousands of fans braved heavy rain to fill the streets surrounding the red carpet at the 2008 MuchMusic Video Awards in Toronto last night.

Maybe it was the presence of Umbrella songstress Rihanna or that of Rainn Wilson, a.k.a. The Office's Dwight Schrute, but the weather failed to deter musicians and celebrities from attending the annual music video awards show.

Hedley was the night's big victor, with a total of four wins. The B.C.-based quartet picked up trophies for Best Video and Best Director for For The Nights I Can't Remember and honours for Best Cinematography and MuchLOUD Best Rock Video for She's So Sorry.

Barbados-born R&B star Rihanna also fared well, taking home awards for Best International Video Artist for Don't Stop The Music and MuchMusic.com Most Watched Video for Umbrella. References to the coincidence of her hit single and the first-ever red carpet rain-out of the ceremony were nearly unavoidable.

Despite the poor weather, illScarlett illuminated the roof of the MuchMusic headquarters. The reggae-ska-rock band performed outdoors against a light show spectacle atop the Toronto building.

But the most anticipated act of the night was New Kids On The Block. The reunited 1990s boy band made its first televised Canadian performance since reforming.

And while boy bands from illScarlett, Simple Plan, Hedley and New Kids were in full force, girl power didn't fail to find its place at Much.

An appearance by former Sporty Spice Girl, British singer Melanie C, and a performance by the less dressed Pussycat Doll prodigy, Girlicious, represented the evolution of women in pop music over the past 10 years.

Coldplay disc 1st day sales solid in U.K.

Coldplay sold 125,000 copies of its new album on the first day of release in Britain, a solid tally industry experts say should be music to the band's ears and those of its ailing record label, EMI.

Viva La Vida or Death And All His Friends now looks certain to top Sunday's album chart, according to the Official Charts Company that tracks record sales, even though it was released on Thursday rather than at the start of the week. "Coldplay are an international act ... and these sales figures in the U.K. are the first indication of how the album will be received, and EMI will be very pleased," said the charts company managing director Martin Talbot.

X&Y, Coldplay's last album and most successful to date, sold 465,000 copies in its first week in Britain. EMI, and its boss Guy Hands, will now turn their attention to the world's biggest music market in the United States, a more important barometer of the album's success when it is released there this week. Late on Thursday, lead singer Chris Martin walked out of an interview on BBC's Radio 4, saying he was "not really enjoying this" and accusing his interviewer of "twisting" his words. REUTERS

Mood-altering colour choices

Did you know that paint choices can have a serious impact on mood? Well, if colour psychologists are to be believed, choosing the right tone will help you balance emotions and lead a fuller life.

BLUE: Blue aids relaxation and promotes a calm, spiritual feel. Use it in bedrooms to soothe, in kids' rooms to focus the mind and in bathrooms to promote a feeling of well being. It's also considered an appetite suppressant — we kid you not! — maybe it could be the perfect choice in the kitchen if you're counting calories!

RED: If a rise in sexual response is what you're after then make red your colour of choice. But be careful — a little goes a long way. Use it as an accent rather than your dominant colour. Deep reds promote appetite and conversation, making them great for dining rooms, whereas orange-red and brown-red shades are cozy, warm and stimulating.

COLIN & JUSTIN'S INTERIOR DIVINE

YELLOW: The colour of sun, yellow will make you happy and has been shown to increase metabolism. But it's also been noted that people lose their tempers and babies cry more often in yellow rooms. So perhaps it's not ideal (in brighter tones anyway) in a nursery! Great for kitchens and bathrooms, especially teamed with white.

GREEN: The colour of the forest, green calms, relaxes and has a healing effect. What's more, it's said to relieve depression and anxiety. But remember — don't use too dark a tone, or your home will end up feeling like the local library. Sage, olive and lime are currently very popular and even pastels are making a comeback.

PURPLE: Signifying opulence and spirituality, purple is seriously hedonistic. From sexy aubergine to soft lavender, and mauve to sophisticated lilac, there's a tone for everyone.

Team with white, grey and silver, add a feature wall of dramatic lavender wallpaper or dot your home with deep purple cushions and throws as an introduction to this thoroughly regal tone.

GREYS/BLACK: Storm clouds and rainy days — the perfect choice for grumpy teenagers? Or a mood board inspired by city suits, military precision and the little black dress? We love this palette and find it timeless, elegant and sophisticated. But better still —monochrome is reckoned to increase productivity in the home office! Count us in for the executive lounge.

PINK: Pink used to be considered girly but, thanks to the bright shirts of smart businessmen (at least those with a sense of fun) it's now also adored by blokes. Colour scientists often advocate pink for use in prisons (to subdue aggressive behaviour) so it's sure to bring harmony to your home. But go easy, or risk turning your home into a Dolly Parton-inspired marshmallow nightmare.

Colin & Justin's The Home Show airs Tuesdays at 11 p.m. and Saturdays at 4 p.m. ET on HGTV. www.hgtv.ca

Swingtown debut

IDIOT BOX

RICK McGINNIS
rick.mcginnis@metronews.ca

TALES FROM THE DOUBLEKNIT WASTELAND: Almost two weeks ago, CBS' new summer drama Swingtown debuted to great numbers — 8.6 million viewers, according to the Hollywood Reporter, even though the stiffest competition it was up against that night, in the bleary aftermath of an especially unimpressive primetime season, was a horror anthology on NBC.

Even debuting a sexy drama about spouse-swapping suburbanites in the summer of the U.S. Bicentennial in the first flush of summer has an indelibly '70s feel about it, and I was there, baby, a TV junkie in my early teens, glued to the half-dozen channels our backyard antenna pulled in for some clues to the increasingly confusing world around me. There are a lot of things Swingtown gets right, and a lot it gets wrong, but it's already working with a handicap as the near-definitive retrospective take on the decade has already been made — Ang Lee's 1997 movie version of Rick Moody's novel The Ice Storm.

There's a distinct network cheesiness to Swingtown that actually gives it a rather mind-blowing approximation of what Moody's novel might have been like if it were a '70s TV series and not a book. Thirty years ago, CBS would have been obliged to be a lot more moralistic in its treatment of the Millers, Bruce and Susan, who haul themselves a couple of notches up the middle-class ladder and find themselves in the well-upholstered lap of the sexual revolution, courtesy of their sexy new neighbours, Tom and Trina Decker, aided by Trina's collection of bathing suits and Tom's very suggestive Harry Reems moustache.

Today, however, CBS is playing catch-up with the Joneses — Showcase, FX, HBO and AMC, with their critically-acclaimed hour-long dramas, and they're determined to get a piece of that audience, broheem. They've come out swinging — pun intended — but there are a lot of wrong notes. Everything moves too fast, for one — episode one ends with the Millers already trailing the Deckers into the bedroom at their 4th of July party, overcoming their initial misgivings about this violation of their marriage vows without much of a backwards glance. The pacing feels a bit frog-marched, and some of the characterizations — especially Miriam Shor as Janet Thompson, Susan's uptight soon-to-be-former-best friend — far too tidy.

They also treat us to Fleetwood Mac's Go Your Own Way blaring from a radio at a teenage beach party, when the single wouldn't be released until that Christmas. The choice of nearly wall-to-wall soundtrack tunes — Captain & Tennille, Bowie, Chicago, Rita Coolidge — also feels a bit obvious, and I wonder if procuring the rights for all of this Top 40 tunage will either make the DVD box set too pricey, or prompt the last-minute substitution of cheesy cover versions.

One thing they got right, at least, is that junior high girls were tough — far tougher than the boys, and I have the mental scars to prove it.

Rick McGinnis writes about music, movies, books and television, but not opera.

Jackson may turn to Las Vegas act

MUSIC Michael Jackson may relaunch his career as a Las Vegas act, thanks to the private equity group that recently bought the loan on his Neverland Ranch in California to help the pop star avert foreclosure.

The investment firm Colony Capital is discussing with Jackson various repayment options for the $23-million US debt, including a possible long-term engagement as the resident performer of a Vegas casino or nightclub, a source familiar with the talks said.

The source emphasized no deal was in place and that a gig for Jackson in Las Vegas was merely one idea under consideration as Colony Capital explores loan repayment scenarios with him. REUTERS

Mantracker

Strangers meeting is great for blind dates, but hiding out? In this new episode, strangers Mike Sage and Simone Crook better bond quickly if they're going to outwit tracker Terry Grant. She's an environmentalist; he's a film critic. Can they get it together enough to make it through northern British Columbia ahead of Grant? 7 PM on OLN

Aboard the Pater Noster

All aboard! If life is complicated, dance it out. In this performance piece, several characters going through crises express their lives through dance. Under the direction of Daniel Conrad and using the choreography of Aszure Barton, performers Tara Dyberg, Ian Robinson, Banning Roberts, Petr Opavsky and William Briscoe bring sense to the madness. 7 PM on BRAVO

Psychic Kids: Children of the Paranormal

Even if you don't believe in psychic phenomena, this series may give you a shiver or two. It follows medium Chip Coffey and Columbia University professor Lisa Miller as they work with youngsters who see and hear things most of us don't. In the season premiere, we meet 8-year-old Faith, who sees the spirit of a boy named Freddy and is afraid to talk about it. 8 PM on A&E

Together again

According to Tommy Lee, he and ex Pamela Anderson are giving it another go. "Pamela and the kids have moved in with me," he told Rolling Stone. "We've only given it a try 800 times – 801, here we go."

And how do their two sons, Brandon and Dylan, feel about having mom and dad back together? "You can tell on the kids' faces – they're happy when we're together."

Bulletproof Cruise-ing

Tom Cruise's most important mission is keeping his family safe. According to intouchweekly.com, the 45-year-old superstar has a fleet of expensive cars and all of them are equipped with bulletproof windows. "It sounds like he's taken a page out of one of his action movies," explains an insider. "Tom's vehicles look perfectly normal, but in reality they are more like armoured trucks." All of Tom's chauffeurs are professionally trained drivers, says the insider, so they can get him out of traffic problems and protect him from possible trouble. Still, he often prefers to drive his wife, Katie Holmes, and his three children himself. "Tom is a car nut," the insider adds.

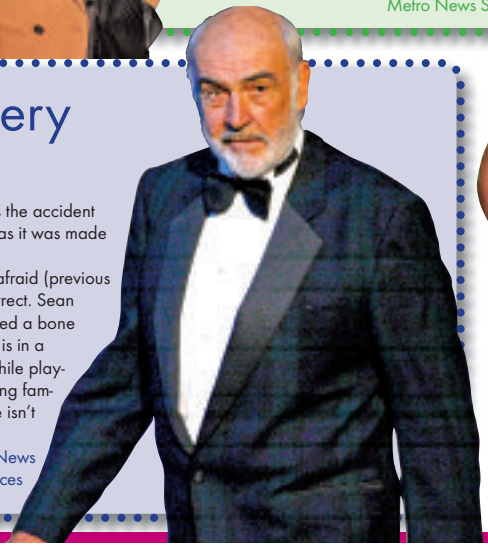
Rep denies Connery is in hospital



A representative for former James Bond star Sir Sean Connery has denied the actor is in hospital nursing a fractured ankle – revealing the star is only suffering from a minor shoulder injury.

The 77-year-old reportedly fell and injured himself during a game of golf in Mount Kisco, New York on Friday and was subsequently admitted to Northern Westchester Hospital for treatment.

But Connery's spokeswoman Nancy Seltzer says the accident was not as serious as it was made out to be.

She said: "I'm afraid (previous reports are) not correct. Sean Connery has chipped a bone in his shoulder and is in a sling. He tripped while playing golf and is visiting family in New York. He isn't in hospital."

The Keys to motherhood?

Alicia Keys wants to adopt. According to femalefirst.co.uk, the singer admires Angelina Jolie for adopting son Maddox from Cambodia, Zahara from Ethiopia and Pax from Vietnam and is considering following in her footsteps.

Keys, 27, said: "I think adoption is important to consider. That is what I really admire about Angelina Jolie. I think it's beautiful the way she embraces the children of the world.

"We are all one. We're not as separate as we sometimes think. So I possibly would adopt, when I'm more in the motherhood stage of my life."

Alicia also says she has always loved spending time with children and believes it is important to encourage their ideas and creative sides.

She added: "I've always loved kids. Kids are so important. It's important to nurture and spend time with them and listen to them."

The digits 1 through 9 will appear exactly once in each row, each column, and each zone. (A zone is an outlined 3x3 grid within the larger puzzle grid. There are nine of these zones in the puzzle.) Do not enter a digit into a box if it already appears elsewhere in the same 3x3 zone, or in the same row across the puzzle, or column down the puzzle.
